DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The Glade Mennonite Church is located at the junction of Accident-Bittinger and Foxtown Roads, about four miles W of Bittinger. The church stands in a cleared area, and immediately to the SE is a new brick sanctuary. The area around is wooded.

The church is a one-story, gable-roofed structure with a gable-end facade. The facade points W. A set of semi-circular concrete steps leads to the facade door. On the E gable end are two doors.

The church rests on a low cut stone foundation and is covered with white German siding. The windows are four over four sash with simple cornices and plain board surrounds. Above the facade door is a round-headed, single-paned attic window with a wooden keystone and hoodmould. The facade door is double, with a filled transom above. In the transom are painted the words "Glade Mennonite Youth Center." The rear doors also have filled transoms.

The roof is covered with corrugated metal. The church has no chimney, but on the S elevation the wall shows a scar and the roof a patch where an exterior chimney was removed.

The interior is unknown.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This church is typical of many small houses of worship constructed in Garrett County in the late 19th and early 20th centuries. This church does not exhibit a projecting apse at the "east end," as do several other churches in the county; this may be due to the beliefs of the church's Mennonite founders.
